

Hemant Joshi

Freelancer

Recently, graduated from high school in Dhangadhi, a small town in Nepal, and intend to pursue a bachelor's degree in digital forensics. Passionate in social services and hypnosis and psychology as well. Got relevant abilities by taking a number of related courses from udemy, youtube, and other sources, such as web development, python, c, and penetration testing. Worked on a few personal projects. Won't claim to be an expert, but do have sufficient programming and web development capabilities, as well as some penetration testing abilities. In the future, want to work as a cyber crime analyst and a digital forensics specialist.

Current

Part Time Developer

NepDev, Undefined, Sudurpascchim

Nepdev is a network of young people that collaborate on web-related projects including website design and modest software development.

It is not a large corporation, but rather a tiny community founded as a startup by largely undergraduate students.

I had the opportunity to collaborate with NepDev on the development of a website named iporesult.nepdevtech.com.
